I CAN DO IT, TOO! BY KAREN BAICKER

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- What has changed about your baby/toddler this month? How has your family changed?
- Think about what your toddler can do. It's tempting for family members do everything for little ones, but get creative.
- Try having your child pour from a small pitcher, drink from a cup, pull up his/her own PJ bottoms, put on his/her shoes, clean up after a spill, or help make breakfast. (Just leave a few extra minutes).

PLOT SUMMARY

In this adorable book, a little girl is learning to do big things all by herself. She can pour juice like her dad. She can put on her clothes like her big sister - even with buttons. She can bake with grandma (and lick the bowl). She can read books with grandpa. She can play guitar with her uncle, kiss an "ouch" goodbye and play with her best friend too.

Bold and bright pictures show us how a family can celebrate a girl's growing independence. We see how children happily attempt new milestones with surrounded by love. Instead of saying "I can't," your munchkin will now say, "I can do it too!"

PRACTICE BABY SIGN LANGUAGE

Start teaching babies to interact with their family through baby sign language. This chart (click here) is a great reminder for caregivers, babysitters and siblings.

Start with 3 signs:

- More: Flatten out your hands then bring your thumbs under to make an O shape. Then, bring your hands together and separate them repeatedly.
- I Love You: Put up your thumb, index and pinkie fingers, while keeping your ring and middle fingers down. Hold the hand out, palm facing away from you and move it back and forth slightly.
- Eat: Make a clam shape with your hand by bringing the tip of your thumb to your four fingers. Tap your mouth repeatedly.
